

Second Harvest Food Handler Certification Program

On September 1, 2006, Toronto bylaw 678-2006 came into effect, requiring food handler certification for all food handlers working in the food and or beverage industry. Second Harvest offers its agency partners the Food Handler Certification Course to help support their food programming and provide affiliate community members with resume-building accreditations. Participants will be trained in best practices for preventing food-borne illness, and upon completion of the program will receive a 5-year certification. In partnership with TrainCan, an accredited food handler certification program, Second Harvest offers the course to its partner agencies for a subsidized rate of $10 per person. Payments must be made in cash or cheque before the course begins.

Session Description

Food Handler Certification Course & Exam

Duration: 9 hours

Cost: $10 (training & exam)

Session Time & Location Requested

STUDENT INFORMATION

First Name:

Last Name:

Email:

Date of Birth:

Phone:

Location of Exam:

Affiliate Organization:

Dietary restrictions:

How are you connected to your affiliate organization?

Staff

Volunteer

Community Member

I, _____, give permission to Second Harvest and/or partners to take photographs throughout the training session. This footage may be used to promote the work of Second Harvest.

Light snacks and refreshments will be provided. Please let us know if you are in need of any language supports. If you have any questions regarding the course, please contact Kiera Toffelmire at 416.408.2594 x245 or kierant@secondharvest.ca.